Portland JACL Thanks General Eric K. Shinseki

Board Member's Message by Jean Yamamoto

Five years ago President Obama nominated General Eric Shinseki to be Secretary of Veteran Affairs and was unanimously confirmed by the Senate. General Shinseki came out of retirement and answered the call to serve once again because of his deep commitment to veterans. At that time the Walter Reed Army Medical Center neglect scandal was recently in the headlines and highlighted the pervasive and daunting problems within the military and veteran healthcare systems.

In May of this year Secretary of Veteran Affairs Eric Shinseki resigned amid scandal and corruption in the Department of Veteran Affairs. An honorable man, Secretary Shinseki trusted his senior leaders which was misplaced. Their misconduct and gaming of the appointment system led to long waiting lists and deaths of veterans who died while awaiting care. He said, "That breach of integrity is irresponsible. It is indefensible and unacceptable to me. Leadership and integrity problems can and must be fixed – and now." However, even Speaker John Boehner said that the problems with the Veterans Affairs wasn't just about one person but the entire system underneath him.

The Portland JACL will introduce an emergency resolution at this year's JACL National Convention to recognize and thank General Eric K. Shinseki for his service to his country. Last year we had the privilege of hearing Secretary Shinseki deliver the keynote speech at the American Heroes Luncheon opening the Congressional Gold Medal traveling exhibit at the Oregon Historical Society. The Congressional Gold Medal, the highest civilian honor for distinguished achievements and contributions was awarded to Nisei veterans of the 100th Battalion, 442nd Regimental Combat Team and the Military Intelligence Service.

Eric Shinseki was born in Kauai during World War II. His uncles served in the 442 which inspired him to pursue a military career. He graduated from West Point and then completed two combat tours in Vietnam where he was awarded three Bronze Stars for valor and a Purple Heart with an Oak Leaf Cluster. In 1970, during a fierce gun battle he stepped on a mine and lost half his right foot. Although he could have retired he worked hard to return to active duty the next year.

After Vietnam, Shinseki continued up the military career ladder, serving at Schofield Barracks and Ft Shafter in Hawaii and then as an instructor at West Point. He went on to serve more than 10 years in Europe in a variety of assignments. He had important posts at the Pentagon and in 1991 was promoted to brigadier general, became the commanding general of the 1st Cavalry Division in 1994 and then was named the commander in chief of U.S. Army forces in Europe. In 1999 President Clinton named him Army chief of staff.

In February 2003, three weeks before the invasion of Iraq, General Shinseki testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee that it would take “something on the order of several hundred thousand soldiers” to secure the country and he also warned that a post-war occupation could awaken “ethnic tensions that could lead to other problems”. Then-Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld and Deputy Paul Wolfowitz scoffed at his assessment and eventually forced him out. History now shows that Shinseki was right.

When General Shinseki retired in 2003 he was the highest ranking Asian American service member.

We are grateful for General Shinseki and his 38-year military service to his country and his 5-year tenure at the Department of Veterans Affairs. Throughout his long career he has served as a positive role model for living a life of integrity and speaking truth to power. We hope that the JACL community will join us in support of a resolution to honor this war hero and inspiring public servant.

In last month's newsletter about the graduation banquet, Consul General Hiroshi Furusawa's presence at the banquet and his congratulatory speech to the high school seniors was inadvertently omitted. Our apologies to the Consular Office of Japan and Consul General Furusawa for our oversight. The Japanese American community is appreciative of the Japanese government's support of our graduates.

Oregon Historical Cemetery Grant from Parks and Recreation

The Japanese Ancestral Society, JAS, has received a small grant of $2600 to improve and maintain the Japanese Cemetery at the Rose City Cemetery. We are very appreciative to receive this grant from the Oregon Historical Cemetery funds through the Parks and Recreation.

The grant will be used to purchase cleaning and painting supplies as well as pay for specialized skill and labor for landscaping, repair of damaged and tilted gravestones, and for reproduction of faded Japanese characters on gravestones.

The Cemetery Committee of JAS will need volunteer assistance throughout the summer to fulfill the portion of Donation In Kind as an active participant. The volunteers will straighten tilting gravestones, scrub gravestones, and may also help in refurbishing faded lettering.

If you wish to volunteer, please contact Fran Sumida Palk, home 503-234-3279 or cell 503-810-3940. A volunteer cleaning and improvement schedule will be sent to you upon receiving your request.

This plea comes from the JAS Cemetery Committee Co-chairs, Ken Ono and Fran Sumida Palk.

2014 IBPA Benjamin Franklin Award in History Recognizes Twice Heroes : America's Nisei Veterans of WWII and Korea

Twice Heroes: America's Nisei Veterans of WWII and Korea was awarded the 2014 IBPA Benjamin Franklin Award in History, regarded as one of the highest national honors for small and independent publishers. The award was announced May 28th at a ceremony in New York City. Twice Heroes is the first book by writer and photographer, Tom Graves, and the first for Nassau & Witherspoon Publishers of San Francisco.

Since 1983, Independent Book Publishers Association, IBPA, the largest not-for-profit trade association of independent publishers, has been the leader for education and advocacy.

IBPA has joined readers in recognizing Twice Heroes as one of the most significant books on the history of Japanese Americans who fought for the United States while their families were interned during World War II. The Nisei became the most decorated soldiers in U.S. military history, and received the Congressional Gold Medal, Congress' highest civilian honor, in 2011.

Twice Heroes combines the veterans' experiences with 98 striking portraits taken by the author.

Since completing Twice Heroes, Tom Graves speaks with many groups on Nisei soldiers' legacy of achievement, and continues his work chronicling under-recognized veterans, and adding their chapters to our history books.
